

Seth Linden

Program Officer

Seth Linden joined the Jim Joseph Foundation as a Program Officer in October, 2015. He works primarily with grantee partners on Jewish early childhood education, leadership development in Jewish education, and education technology and digital engagement.

Seth has been an educator, teacher, and social entrepreneur for 20 years. He was founder & CEO of Tutorpedia, Inc. and Tutorpedia Foundation, providing 1-1 tutoring and mentoring to K-12 students in the Bay Area. Prior to that, Seth taught and tutored high school math, science, and test prep at public and private schools in Atherton, Oakland, CA and Providence, RI. Seth is a licensed bartender, seasoned artist, avid traveler, and lifelong learner. He received his Bachelor's degree in Human Biology from Stanford University and Masters of Arts in Teaching from Brown University. Seth and his wife, Sara, have two sons, Ezra (4) and Pax (1) and live in San Francisco.