

Tiffany Harris

Originally from Seattle, Tiffany has lived and worked in France, Switzerland, Israel, Jordan, Morocco, and now Washington DC.

After completing 27 months as a Peace Corps Volunteer in Morocco, she attended Tel Aviv University for her graduate studies, where she earned an MA in International Security and Diplomacy. Prior to her current position with Amazon World Services (AWS), Amazon.com's cloud computing service, Tiffany worked as Peace Corps Headquarters' Public Affairs Specialist.

In addition to serving on the board of the Jim Joseph Foundation, Tiffany currently sits on the young leadership boards for Jewish Women International (JWI) and B'nai B'rith. She is the Founder of You Don't look Jewish, is a Schusterman Foundation Reality and ROI alum, a OneTable Coach, a Taglit (Formerly Birthright Israel) Fellow, and a member of Gather DC's Innovation Network. Previously, Tiffany was a resident of Moishe House and served as the Resident Representative on the organization's international board of directors. She also served as the Chair of Shalom Corps (Peace Corps' Jewish Employee Resource Group), founded Peace Corps' Diversity Board, and sat on the Chief of Staff's Diversity Governance Council.
