

Stacie Cherner

Director of Learning and Evaluation

Stacie Cherner joined the Jim Joseph Foundation in 2014 and currently serves as its Director of Learning and Evaluation. In that role, she oversees the Foundation's program of research, evaluation and applied learning.

Stacie has an extensive background in the non-profit world, including working on a wide variety of program evaluations with SRI International's Center for Education and Human Services. Prior to joining the Foundation, she worked with the Bill and Melinda Gates Foundation facilitating the collaborative efforts of three grantees to improve the use of analytic data in school systems.

Stacie holds a Bachelor's Degree in Economics from Duke University, an MA from The American University in Washington, D.C., and an MSW from the University of California at Berkeley. She and her husband live in Marin and are proud parents of two children.